BARBOURVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1922

ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SAWYER A. SMITH IS BOOSTED FOR GOVERNOR

Barbourville has long been noted for turning out timber, political and otherwise. The Lexington Leader states that a movement is on foot among the Republicans of the State to run Mr. Sawyer A. Smith as a candidate for Governor of Kentucky. The reason for this is the manner in which he has discharged the duties of the office of United States District Attorney, not only over the district generally, but especially at Newport, where he tore things wide open in cleaning up a mass of rottenness that existed hand in hand with strike lawlessness. As is well known, Mr. Smith did not use gloves nor did he spare anyone in his clean-up, but just ripped things apart generally to let in the light of day.

Judge B. J. Betherum has the following to say in regard to Mr. Smith's work:

"The Republicans of Kentucky are beginning to look round for a candidate for governor next year, and of the men mentioned and well qualified for this important office, Hon. Sawyer A. Smith, of Barbourville, is the most talked of at this time."

"He is the type of man that inspires confidence and, in my opinion could wage a winning fight for the party. He is of the 'self-made' man type and knows the problems of the common people and holds their confidence as few men do. Gifted and brilliant, he commands respect and admiration everywhere. As district attorney for Eastern Kentucky he has made a record that reflects credit both upon himself and his party. He has fought with courage and persistency the organized forces of vice in Newport and other places in the state, and, due to his magnificent fight, the lawless have been compelled to come to their knees."

"Lately he has conducted with marked success prosecutions of the violators of the liquor laws and only last week succeeded in securing convictions in the cases of seven men charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law by robbing the D. L. Moore distillery." The people admire an honest, fearless and forceful official and should Mr. Smith consent to become a candidate for governor they would have an opportunity to reward one of that sort."

The Old, Old Story

MISS BERNICE HUMFLEET WINS DECLAMATION MEDAL

The Eastern Kentucky Inter-scholastic Oratorical Association met furnished a surprise Thursday night when Miss Bernice Humfleet, fourteen years of age, a pupil of Union College, won the medal for declamation in spite of the fact that she was several years the junior of her competitors. Colleges, Normals and High Schools were represented.

Miss Bernice had won the right to champion U. C. at the elimination contest but scarcely expected to win out in the final contest, which makes the honor all the more creditable. Miss Anne Wallace, of Asbury College won second place and Miss Ethel Sebring, of Bethel Academy, won third place.

In the oratorical contest A. J. Russell, of Berea, won first, H. Sewell, of Asbury second and Roy Procter, of Eastern Kentucky, third. All did good work.

H. H. Owens, attorney and humorist, which he proved himself in handling the contest, tantalized the crowd at the end of the contest and put them in the best of humor before announcing the winners. He then gracefully presented the medals to the winners with a few appropriate remarks.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL

The revival services at the Christian Church conducted by Fife and Son, evangelists, is making good headway in spite of the continuous rainy weather. When it is not raining the house is usually crowded.

During the next few days the following subjects will be discussed:— Friday night—Belshazzar's Feast. Saturday night—Casting the Net. Sunday, 9:45 a.m.—Bible School Illustration.

Sunday, 11:00 a.m.—Heaven: What and Where Is It?

Sunday, 2:30 p.m.—Special Sermon to Men—The Time that Never came." Ladies invited.

Sunday, 7:30 p.m.—Christian Unity.

METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor, Rev. John Owen Gross, will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock; subject, Job Sees God. This will be a discussion of the question as to why the righteous suffer.

Sunday School at 9:45. This Sunday is "Go To Sunday School Sunday" and we are anxious to break all previous records. The Bible classes for men and women are always attended and furnish a great opportunity for Bible study. All classes in the school have splendid teachers and offer a profitable time to all who can come.

Epworth League in charge of the pastor at 6:30.

No evening service because of the revival at the Christian Church.

CAMPBELL

Mrs. Nannie Fuller Campbell, wife of John J. Campbell of Swan Lake, died at the family home on Thursday morning from tuberculosis. The funeral was held at the home at 12 o'clock Friday, interment being in the Steve Detherage graveyard. Besides the husband two boys and two girls survive.

KIWANIS

Have Good Time in Pineville

About thirty Kiwanians went to Pineville Tuesday to attend the Inter City meeting of Kiwanis. The Barbourville band played for the occasion and still further enhanced its reputation as the best band in this section of the state. The boys drew general applause for their fine work.

The visitors were met at the depot by members of the local Kiwanis and were taken for a spin over the city. The banquet and jollification was held at the Continental Hotel. Owing to the fact that the Harlan boys came in late, thus delaying the dinner, speeches were cut to the bone in the matter of time. Dr. E. T. Franklin spoke for Barbourville, and the only trouble with the speech that there was not enough of it, due to the late hour. Everybody had a good time and a spirit of get together for Eastern Kentucky and North Eastern Tennessee prevailed.

The pallbearers were Robert W. Cole, Dr. S. H. Rowland, S. N. Miller, Sam Cawn, L. R. Benjamin, and Prof. C. P. Caywood.

ANOTHER BARBOURVILLE CASE

It Proves That There's A Way Out
for Many Suffering Barbourville Folks

Just another report of a case in Barbourville. Another typical case.
Kidney ailments relieved in Barbour-ville with Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. E. Dozier, carpenter, Barbour-ville, says: "I take Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I have attacks of kidney complaint and I have always found them just as represented. If my kidneys get out of order I am sure to have a backache. I get lame across my hips and in the small of my back and it is hard to do my work. Mornings when I get up I feel lame and stiff. When I get such attacks I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to strengthen my kidneys. The lameness leaves me too. Doan's certainly have my heartiest endorsement."

Do not discard old mats and car-part of the carpet, and make into a pad to stand on while ironing. This will be found very restful to the feet.

One of these pads placed at the bot-wipe the shoes, will help to keep the steps clean and thus save much labor.

FATHERS OF MEN

"T HERE is much truth in the old saying, 'As the twig is bent, so the tree inclines.' " observed the retired merchant. "If a boy inclined to crookedness grew up to be a straight and reliable man, it would be nothing short of a miracle.
Therefore I tremble for the future
of Spoonable's
boy, William Henry. He seems to be just naturally vicious."

"You're full of excelsior," said the hotelkeeper polit-
ly. "All those chestnutty old sayings are fakes.
The patriarchs
used to be always saying that the boy is the father of the man, but he isn't; and he isn't grandmother to the man, either. You can't study a boy and predict what sort of a man he's going to be, any more than the official forecaster can examine his maps and charts and tell us what the weather will be like tomorrow."

"You observe that my larboard eye is somewhat discolored and I have a contusion on my brow, and my nose is slightly out of alignment. Yesterday I was pirooting along a back street on a little errand, when I beheld a big, husky teamster pounding the sawdust out of a venerable horse that had seen better days. I went up to him and protested in the most courteous way, and he said it would afford him genuine pleasure to kick my spine up through my hat, if I didn't go my way and leave him alone. I informed him that if he hit that horse again I would push his countenance out of place, and he immediately clubbed the suffering animal harder than ever."

"I am glad to say that I succeeded in kicking most of the rind off the teamster's shins before he got me down and sat on my head, but I submit that a man who will take such chances as I did must have the cause of cruelty to animals much at heart.
There's nothing makes my blood boil quicker than to see an animal abused."

"Well, when I was a boy I had a wide reputation for cruelty. I used to delight in tying tin cans to the tails of dogs, and in drowning cats, and in robbing birds' nests, and all such sinful pastimes. The moralists of that period agreed that I was entitled to the mantle of Nero, and that I would come to a bad end. Yet when I became old enough to have some sense, I made pets of all the dumb critters within eight miles."

"If that old maxim about the twig and the tree were any good, it ought to work both ways, and the saintly boy always would become a grand, good man. But as a rule the truly good boys don't amount to much in after life. Nearly all our useful citizens were hard citizens when they were boys, and the shiftless, no-account men were simply angelic when they went to school."

"A boy gets tired of being immaculate after he has tried it a few years,
and he goes to the other extreme.
And the boy who has been a horrible example ever since he left the cradle gets sick of that sort of thing when he has cut his wisdom teeth, and he becomes so virtuous that there's no living in the same block with him."

"Most of the old sayings are foolish and trifling, and I am surprised when a grown man goes around quoting them. Yet a lot of fellows think they have clinched an argument when they drag in a bewhiskered maxim.
In order to show that Spoonable's boy is foredoomed, you spring that old wheeze about the twig and the tree.
You might just as well say that Mary had a little lamb, and consider the argument closed."

"I know you are suffering to remind me that people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones, but I won't stand for it."

Cure for Flat Feet.

Are you flat-footed? If you don't know, the next time you take a bath observe the impressions that your feet make. If your feet are normal there will be a narrow line from heel to toe on the outside; if they are flat the entire bottom of the foot will show.

How can you cure flat-footedness?
Buy a handful of marbles, place them in two rows, and start picking them up with your toes. To do this you must curl up your toes; as a result the muscles of the feet will be exercised and thereby strengthened.—Popular Science Monthly.

And He Meant It, Too.

On Jimmie's return home from the birthday party of a girl in the neighborhood, he was telling his mother about her mother. When the children were leaving she asked them all to wish her little girl something nice.
Whereupon Jimmie's mother said him: "I trust that my little boy will wish the little girl something nice."
"O, yes," said Jimmie, still a visions of cake and ice cream wished her that she'd soon have other birthday."

$50,000.00 KENTUCKY DERBY

Will Be Run at Churchill Downs, Louisville,
Saturday, May 13th

Morvich, the Champion of Last Season, and a Large Field of Other
High Class Three Year Olds, Will Be Among the Starters
For the Greatest Stake in America

The forty-eight renewal of the Kentucky Derby, which will be run at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Saturday, May 13th, promises to be the most interesting in the long history of this famous race. This year the Kentucky Jockey Club has added $50,000, and a $7,000 gold service to the winner, making it in point of value the richest, as it always has been the most sought after three-year-old stake in America. There clusters around the Derby all the memories and the romance that make the turf so alluring and that enshrine Churchill Downs in the hearts of half a century of race lovers.

Beginning with Aristides, the first winner, and continuing through an immortal roster of thoroughbred Kings, public interest in the Derby has increased every year until to-day the names of the contenders are household words, and their respective merits are subject of arguments that will not cease until the number of the winner is hung out on May 13th.

The outstanding favorite this year is Benjamin Block's Morvich, which finished his two-year-old career by winning every race in which he started. Beating all his competitors with an ease that marks him as a colt of surpassing speed and quality, approaching, if he does not equal, Man o' War. Morvich is training at the Jamaica race track, New York, where his trials are phenomenal. He will probably start in the opening handicap at Jamaica and will be shipped immediately thereafter to Churchill Downs where he will receive his final workout for the Derby.

The prowess of Morvich has not discouraged the owners of other Derby candidates and there will be a field of from twelve to fifteen horses to contest with the champion for the $50,000 stake and its accompanying $7,000 gold souvenir. Among the number are Harry Payne Whitney's Olympus, a recent winner at Havre de Grace, over older handicap horses, and at least one other high-class colt from the same stable; Montfort Jones' Surf Rider, the winner of six races last year, and Rockminister, a promising Friar Rock colt; John Finn, whose work at Lexington makes him a dangerous contender; the great filly Startle, which might repeat the victory of Regret, the only filly to win the Derby; Washington from the same stable is also showing improved form this Spring; E. R. Bradley has By Golly, Busy American and Bet Mosie, and he makes no secret of the claim that he expects to run one two in this year's Derby as he did last year with Behave Yourself and Black Servant; J. S. Couden who already has one Derby winner to his credit in Paul Jones, believes he has an excellent chance to win with Good Times; Kai Sang, who ran second to Morvich several times last year, is eligible for the Derby; Gentility, the winner of the Lexington Futurity, has worked faster than any filly in the West. Unless she is saved for the Oaks, she will certainly go in the Derby. Lucky Hour is the hope of the Simms' stable. He is already a winner this year, was second in the Pimlico Futurity last year, and is a horse of undoubted class. With Deadlock, Spanish Maize, Chatterton, My Play and several other dark horses to draw from, there is sure to be a large field of the best three-year-olds in America to face the starter at Churchill Downs on Saturday, May 13th.

The Downs is more beautiful than ever this year, accommodations for the public have been greatly increased, and every arrangement has been made for the reception of at least 75,000 people. The Kentucky Derby is the center of all attraction in the turf world and Churchill Downs will be the Mecca to which all lovers of high-class sport will turn on Saturday, May 13th, the opening day of the Spring meeting at Louisville, which will continue until June 3rd.

One Solid Year of Achievement

Republican Administration's Program of Construction Being Fulfilled

Congress Is Industrious

Record of Accomplishments Not Excelled in Annals of Legislation

(By Rep. Simeon D. Fess (Ohio), Chairman Republican Congressional Committee.)

The World War bequeathed to the United States, in common with every other nation gigantic debts, tremendous expenditures, burdensome taxes, dis-jointed economic conditions and general unrest. No previous administration since the establishment of our Government came into power with greater domestic problems demanding solution at its hands than confronted the Republican administration on March 4, 1921.

Immediately upon the inauguration of the President and his call of the special session of the Congress a program of rehabilitation was outlined and work immediately commenced to consummate it. Undesirable immigration was flooding the country. This increased unemployment, rendered more difficult a solution of our industrial problems, while the character of many of the immigrants was a menace to our social and political institutions. To protect American labor and American institutions against this invasion a law was enacted limiting further immigration to but three per cent. of the nationals already in America.

The first necessary step toward economic readjustment was necessarily reduction of expenses and balancing of the budget. One of the earliest measures enacted by the Republican Congress was the budget law. The previous Republican Congress had enacted a budget law, but it was vetoed by President Wilson. The law went into effect July 1, 1921, in time to apply to the fiscal year beginning on the same date. Whatever economies have been effected by reason of the Budget Bureau since that time are to be credited to the early action of the Republican Congress in putting the law on the books which created the Budget Bureau and made its operation possible.

The agricultural industry of the country was suffering in a degree which has never been equalled in its history. This important industry, which directly affects one-third of our population and indirectly affects every industrial, commercial and financial activity, was facing bankruptcy. In order to assist the farmer in this period of economic distress the Republican Congress enacted an elaborate program of agricultural rehabilitation. This program of constructive legislation in behalf of the American farmer is without parallel in the annals of American legislation. The substantial effects of this legislative program are now apparent on every hand.

Notwithstanding the Republican Congress elected in 1918 and assembled in special session in 1919 had appropriated hundreds of millions for ex-service men, the administration of these funds by the various executive agencies controlled by the Democrats had been such that the ex-service men had received a minimum of benefit from the funds. A large part of this was due to lack of co-ordination and co-operation of the various bureaus. One of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of the Republican Congress was the consolidation of the various agencies dealing with the ex-service man under the one head of the Veterans Bureau. This assures expedition as well as fair and adequate treatment of our disabled ex-service men.

In addition to this consolidation and reorganization additional millions were appropriated for the use of the Bureau. American ex-service men of the World War have been better treated at the hands of the Republican Congress than the ex-service men of any previous war in American history and better treated than the ex-service men of any other nation engaged in the World War. And the end is not yet. As an aid to the agricultural sections and as an antidote to the unemployment situation, the Congress passed at $75,000,000 appropriation bill for the construction and maintenance of improved highways, which sum will be doubled when the provisions of the bill are complied with by States putting up an equal sum of money.

Among the numerous constructive and relief measures the Maternity Bill was enacted in response to the demand

SOME FERTILIZER IS REQUIRED BY ONIONS

Spading Fork Should Be Used in Preparing Soil.

Poultry and Sheep Manure Are Both Good for Crop, but Should Be Used Sparingly—Steel Rake Is Splendid Tool.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Onions require a mellow, rich soil; in fact, very few gardens are rich enough to grow good onions without some fertilizing. In preparing the soil break it up with a spading fork, working into the top three or four inches plenty of well-rotted manure, suggest garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Ten pounds of high-grade commercial fertilizer should also be spread over each square rod of ground and well raked into the soil a few days before planting the onion "sets." Poultry and sheep manure are both good fertilizers for onions, but must be used sparingly and well mixed with the soil to prevent burning the onion roots.

Onions grow very quickly and require frequent shallow stirring of the surface soil. The usual method is to plant the "sets" in rows about 15 inches apart and 3 to 5 inches apart in the rows, covering them just so the tops will be below the surface. A narrow steel rake is a good tool for working between the rows at first, but later as the onions attain some size a wheel hoe can be used. For the very first workings and for getting between the individual plants in the rows there is nothing better than a short piece of lath with three wire brads driven through it at one end, making what is known as a "scratcher." By and by the onion tops will get so large that they almost fill the spaces between the rows and hand weeding may have to be resorted to in order to keep the crop free from weeds.

About the time the onions begin to enlarge at the base, or to "bottom," as the growers say, it is a good plan to scatter a very little nitrate of soda, not more than two pounds to the square rod, over the soil between the rows and work it in with a hoe or rake. This will stimulate the growth just at the time that the plants most need a little extra food and will usually increase the yield.

FINE SOIL FOR ROOT CROPS

Carrots, Parsnips and Salsify Want to Grow Straight, but Clods Work Injury.

Do you want long, straight carrots, parsnips, and salsify, or crooked, forked ones? Ask your wife; she has to peel them. All these roots have good intentions; they want to keep straight, but they cannot stand adversity nor withstand temptation. If they strike rocks or clods on the way down, they become forked or twisted, and if lumps of stable manure are in the soil, they bend toward these or send out branches in that direction. Dig extra deep, making the soil fine and mellow where these crops are to grow, and see that all manure is finely pulverized and all fertilizer thoroughly mixed with the soil.

POPULAR SWEATERS

In the bright lexicon of youth is written the sweater, and a sweater-less wardrobe is not to be imagined—either for young or old. The tuxedo or sweater-coat is deservedly the most popular style, made of wool or of silk yarn like that one pictured here. It is shown in many colors and in black or white. Collar and cuff sets of checked silk or plain linen are fashionable with the quieter colors.

RADIO

PROGRESS OF RADIO THROUGH THE YEARS

Wireless Research Began Long Ago, But Development Has Been Swift Lately.

Wireless research started many years ago, as far back even as 1827. Even the radio telephone is not a recent perfection; rather it is that introduction to the layman of the human voice and music has suddenly popularized something that wireless men had thought a pastime or amusement. Here is the chronological record of wireless:

1827—It was found that the magnetic discharge from a leyden jar would magnetize a steel needle.

1831—Electro-magnetic induction was discovered between two entirely separate circuits by Michael Faraday.

1837—Cooke and Wheatstone of London, England, and Morse of the United States take out first patent for electric telegraph.

1838—K. A. Steinhell of Munich suggested that a system of wireless telegraphy could be established after his discovery of the use of the earth return.

1840—Joseph Henry (U. S. A.) produced the first high-frequency electric oscillations, and stated that the condenser discharge is oscillatory.

1842—Wireless experiments were made by S. F. B. Morse by electric conduction through water across Washington canal and across wide rivers.

1843—A wireless system for transatlantic communication was suggested.

1845—Water was used as a conducting medium in wireless experiments across a wide river.

1849—Intelligible signals were actually sent across a river 4,500 feet wide in India, but the cost was found prohibitive for commercial use.

1867—The electric waves that are now utilized in wireless telegraphy and telephony were predicted in an address before the Royal Society in London, England.

1880—The sending of an electric current through earth was systematically studied by John Trowbridge of Harvard. It was found that signaling might be carried on over large distances between places not connected by wires.

1885—It was found that telephonic speech could be conveyed by induction over a space of quarter mile. This experiment took place in England.

1889—Electric waves were suggested as being particularly suitable for the sending of signals through fogs.

1890—An instrument for the detection of electro-magnetic waves was discovered which was given the name of a "coherer."

1894—A scientist of Berlin signaled through three miles of water.

1895—High frequency waves excite curiosity of Senator Marconi.

1896—First patent for practical wireless transmitting system is taken out in London by Marconi. Afterward, successful signaling was carried out over distances as great as one and one-quarter miles. Sir William Preece of the British postoffice system interested his cohorts in Marconi's wireless experiments.

1897—Marconi establishes communication between points four miles distant. Balloons were used to suspend antennae.

Marconi demonstrates his wireless system before the king of Italy, communicating with two Italian warships one mile distant.

The first Marconi station is erected in the Isle of Wight and experiments conducted over a distance of 14 miles. Near the end of the year the first sailing wireless station was successfully operated.

1898—The first paid marconigram was sent from the Isle of Wight station.

1899—Reports made on lighthouse accident by radio. First French gunboat is fitted with radio apparatus. In Vienna communication between two balloons is established. New York Herald receives radio report of international yacht races. The British war fleet introduces Marconi apparatus to the South African battlefields.

1900—German vessel communicates a distance of 60 miles by radio signals.

1901—Radio communication started with five islands in the Hawaiian group. The first British ship is fitted with the wireless telegraph.

1902—Radiograph signals received aboard vessels at sea at 1,500 statute miles. Signals received from a distance of 2,000 miles.

1903—King Edward receives a radio message from President Roosevelt. High-power stations were ordered by the Italian government. First transatlantic radio message sent. Telegraphic news service for ships at sea is started. Marconi knighted in Russia.

1904—The first press message was sent across the sea.

1905—Patent suit started in New York between the Marconi and De Forest company.

Patent for horizontal directional aerial is taken out. This was a great step forward in long-distance work.

1906—International conference is held in Berlin, at which most of the countries of the world are represented.

1907—The use of steel disks for producing notes were successfully tested.

Radio stations in Ireland and Nova Scotia were opened for limited public service.

1908—Radio stations opened for unlimited public service between Great Britain and Canada.

1909—Steamship in collision with another off the coast of Florida succeeds in calling assistance by radio.

1910—Marconi receives messages 6,700 miles while on board ship going to South America.

Spanish radio company formed.

1911—Canadian government leased radio stations for 20 years.

1912—Radio distress signals from the Titanic bring assistance and save lives of 700 passengers.

1913—Tests were made between the Eiffel tower in France and the station at Washington. During the trip into Central Asia an explorer received his longitude and time signals from a distant radio station.

1914—Marconi and radio officials start test of wireless telephone between vessels of the Italian fleet. The test was continued between vessels on the high seas and voices were heard with clarity at a distance of 44 miles. One day radio telephone communication was kept up constantly for 12 hours. Great Britain declared war upon Germany August 4 and all private radio telegraphy and telephony suspended.

1915—Radio communication between America and Japan is completed. The stations were located at San Francisco and Tokyo with a relay station at Honolulu.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company succeeded in radio telephoning from Arlington station at Washington to Hawaii, a distance of nearly 5,000 miles.

Secretary Daniels of the United States navy transmitted telephonic messages from Washington to the Brooklyn navy yards.

1916—President Wilson and the mikado of Japan exchange messages over the new transpacific radio service, which is formally opened.

1917—Senator Marconi visits the United States and aids greatly in recruiting for radio operators for the United States army.

1918—Wireless telephony progressed rapidly, being used to a great extent in the equipment of airplanes.

Several new long range stations were erected in the United States, it being claimed for one built at Annapolis, Md., that it was capable of communication at 4,000 miles. The United States government also opened a high-power station at Bordeaux.

In September of this year radio signals sent from a point 12,000 miles away were received in Sydney, Australia.

1919—With the exception of the three transatlantic flights—that of the U. S. NC-4, and the British flights of Alcock and Brown and the dirigible R-34, in which radio communication played an important part in keeping the ships of the air on their courses—no very great progress was made in radio telegraphy, although radio telephony was being pushed along quietly.

Restrictions upon amateur receiving and sending were lifted by the American government.

1920—This was the year of the radio telephone, more attention probably being paid to this branch of radio than to the other branches. Several broadcasting stations were opened.

1921—This year was another radio telephone year. It was marked by the opening of numerous broadcasting stations.

What is one of the most important things a mother-to-be should do?

The universal answer from thousands of experienced mothers is this: The mother-to-be should massage the muscles and nerves involved in the function of child-bearing, daily, with an application of Mother's Friend. Because—

Three generations of mothers record the virtue of Mother's Friend for not only allaying distress in advance, but for assisting nature in assuring a speedy recovery for the mother.

So thoroughly has Mother's Friend proven its wonderful efficiency in thousands of cases, that any expectant mother who does not employ its use as directed deprives herself of a powerful agent for her relief and well-being, during the period of pending maternity, and of her prospects for an easier delivery when the eventful hour arrives.

The women who appreciate Mother's Friend the most, and who are loudest in their praise of it, are those who unfortunately did not use it with their first baby and who, thru its use with the second one, were able to fully realize the almost unbelievable relief it gave.

Mrs. Olive Vanden, 10 Grape St., Gallipolis, Ohio, says:

"Before using Mother's Friend I suffered from Wednesday 'till Sunday. With my next child I used Mother's Friend and was sick only about three hours."

Many doctors and nurses recommend Mother's Friend. For external use—is perfectly harmless. Begin its use at once. Sold by all druggists.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

HIGHWAYS ARE FLEECE LINED

Because Cotton Is So Cheap, Ranchmen of California and Arizona Use It on Roads.

Fleece-lined roads for getting motorists over desert sands have recently made their appearance and have surprised a great many motor tourists traveling through certain sections of California and Arizona, says the Illustrated World. There is such a low market value upon cotton in certain sections that it scarcely pays to haul it to the railroad stations. Much that is raised, therefore, goes into the making of roads.

Ranchmen of the Salt River valley of Arizona are doing with cotton just what farmers in other sandy sections do with straw or brush. Cotton is simply thrown down upon the road over stretches where the sand is annoying. Traffic over the road then packs the cotton down into the sand until it forms a firm, smooth and resilient surface, over which motor-vehicles may progress with almost as much ease as over a paved street in a city.

WAY TO PLANT IRISH POTATO

Crop Not Particularly Adapted to Small Gardens and Requires Well-Prepared Soil.

While Irish potatoes are not adapted to growing in the extremely small garden, most gardeners prefer to include them in their list. One peck of seed Irish potatoes will plant about 300 feet of row. It seldom pays to plant home-grown seed and it is much better to use the home-grown potatoes on the table and purchase seed that has been produced in some locality especially adapted for seed growing. Potatoes require a well-prepared, rich soil, and it pays to use commercial fertilizer, well mixed with the soil of the hills or the rows. The seed should be cut two eyes to each piece, with plenty of potato attached. One piece should be planted in each hill and covered to a depth of about 3 1/4 or 4 inches. The rows should be at least 30 inches apart and the hills 12 to 15 inches apart in the row.

MOSAIC DISEASE HARMS POTATOES

Adequate Measures for Elimination of Ailment Must Be Taken Immediately.

TROUBLE SPREAD BY INSECTS

Situation May Be Somewhat Improved by Partial Weeding Out of Worst Cases—Yield Is Reduced About 30 Per Cent.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A survey of the Western states conducted during the past summer by pathologists of the United States Department of Agriculture shows that unless adequate measures for the elimination of the mosaic disease of potatoes are taken immediately the work of potato seed improvement in the West will soon become extremely difficult, if at all possible. Being of an infectious nature, the disease is spread in the field throughout the summer by means of insects which carry it from diseased to healthy plants, and it is also transmitted with the seed tubers from one generation to another.

There is no evidence that a plant once infected can recover and produce a healthy progeny at any time. On the contrary, the infected plants ordinarily under certain environmental conditions practically cease to produce tubers in the third or fourth generation. If only a partial weeding out of the worst cases is practiced, the situation may be somewhat improved, though not in all cases and by no means permanently. The mild and the medium stages of the disease left in the stock serve as perpetual sources of infection, and eventually the entire strain becomes diseased and is apt to "run out" completely.

Reduces Yield 30 Per Cent. It has been repeatedly demonstrated in the East that the average reduction of yield due to mosaic is about 30 per cent. Precisely the same effect of this disease was noted in the case of all the varieties grown in different Western states. Some remarkable instances were observed during the last two years of field observations carried on by the department in which the reduction of yield in individual hills was in direct proportion to the severity of the infection.

The potato acreage in certain irrigated sections of the West has been increased this year by one-third as compared with that of the last year, yet the yield in these districts is only two-thirds of normal. Many growers complain that where 300 sacks or more were raised to the acre in former years, only 100 to 150 sacks are obtainable now. This is in fields under good cultural conditions, showing good stands and a high freedom from fungus and bacterial diseases. The low yielding quality of the strains in question no doubt is principally a manifestation of mosaic. The need of good seed in the West is well recognized.

Healthy Irish Cobbler Potatoes.

nized and is growing every year, yet only a meager quantity of even relatively good seed is obtainable.

There is very little, if any, hope of improving badly infected strains of potatoes, the department specialists think, therefore, prompt efforts should be made to locate the most healthy strains of the various important commercial varieties. Since there is no means at present of detecting mosaic on the tuber the search should be confined exclusively to the fields during the growing season. When the best strains are found they should further be improved by the annual elimination of all the diseased individuals.

Specialists Must Be Sought. It is necessary to place this work in charge of highly trained specialists, since the identification of certain minute and peculiar characters of the disease requires a considerable experience and a great deal of pathological knowledge. Furthermore, manifestations of mosaic under the varied cultural and climatic conditions of the West are often very obscure and not yet fully understood.

BIG NEED OF BETTER ROADS

Engineers at Sea Regarding Highways Which Will Stand Up Under Modern Traffic.

A. R. Hirst, Wisconsin highway engineer, has declared that the best engineers today are at sea regarding the kind of roads which will stand up under modern traffic, or the traffic which will develop in a few years. Travel by air, to any considerable extent, is still a long way off, and for a good many years to come there will be urgent need for better and better highways.

GROW CROP OF LATE CABBAGE

Land That Has Been Utilized for Peas, Potatoes or Beans is Usually Made Use of.

Late cabbage is usually grown on land that has been utilized for peas, early potatoes, or beans during the early part of the season. The seed should be sown in a seed box or a special outdoor bed four to six weeks before the plants are needed for setting. The seed should not be sown too thickly, and it is a good plan to thin the plants to an even stand in the seed bed, so they will develop uniformly. The land on which late cabbage is grown should be well fertilized, and the plants set 18 to 20 inches apart in rows three feet apart.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXIII.—MAINE

Obscured in the haze of antiquity the old Icelandic sagas record a voyage in 1000 by Leif, son of Eric the Red, who sailed from Greenland to Labrador and down the coast of Maine. The next probable voyage to this coast was by John Cabot in 1497 and later by his son Sebastian. It was, however, Capt. John Smith, the leading spirit of the settlement at Jamestown, who sailed as far north as the Penobscot and first drew a rough chart of it.

In the grant by James I to the Plymouth Colony Maine was included in their territory. Opposition to the Plymouth Colony arose among the king's courtiers and Sir Ferdinando Gorges and Captain Mason succeeded in obtaining for themselves rights to the country between the Merrimac and Kennebec rivers. This they divided, Gorges taking the northern section. Meanwhile Gorges had sent over a small colony to the mouth of the Kennebec, but this settlement was soon abandoned. The first permanent settlement was made in 1625 at what is now York. Massachusetts objected to Gorges' claim and finally annexed all the territory up to Casco Bay and called this northern section the District of Maine. Maine was dissatisfied with the rule of the mother state and by 1820 succeeded in being admitted to the Union as the twenty-third state.

Maine was the first state to adopt prohibition. In the beginning Maine was strongly Democratic. It was largely for this reason that she objected to being ruled by Massachusetts which was Federalist. Since 1856, however, Maine has been decidedly Republican. It has six electoral votes for president.

The name Maine was so designated in the charter of 1606 in which Charles I granted this land to Gorges. It had already been commonly used by the sailors as distinguishing the mainland from the many islands along the shore. The nickname for the state is the Pine Tree State. Its area is 33,000 square miles, which is practically as large as the combined area of the other five New England States. (Copyrighted by Jonathan Brace, Boston, Mass.)
